LIONS
ART MAGAZINE

PHOTOGRAPHER CONTENT RELEASE FORM

1. GRANT OF RIGHTS
The Photographer grants LIONS Art Magazine (the "Magazine") a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free, perpetual licence to reproduce, publish, distribute, display, archive and technically adapt submitted photographs and related materials ("Content") in print and digital editions, on its website and through distribution partners. Permitted promotion of the Magazine and its editions includes cover previews, website banners, landing pages, newsletters, social media and paid advertisements. These rights include reprints, back issues, editorial archives and magazine compilations. Distribution and advertising partners may process Content solely for these permitted purposes. No unrelated stock licensing or advertising for third-party products is permitted. Mandatory legal rights remain unaffected.

2. PHOTOGRAPHER WARRANTIES
The Photographer warrants that they own or control the necessary rights, can grant the licence, and have obtained all required permissions. The Content and intended use must not infringe the copyright, privacy, personality or other rights of any third party.

3. MODEL RIGHTS & AGE VERIFICATION
For each identifiable person, the Photographer warrants that valid written model permission covers the nature of the images, including nudity where relevant, and the intended print, digital, online and promotional uses by LIONS Art Magazine. If a series is selected, a copy of the signed Model Release for each identifiable model must be supplied securely before publication. The Photographer may provide an existing release if sufficient, or use the LIONS Model Release; additional consent is required if the existing release is insufficient. Every person shown nude or partially nude was at least 18 when photographed. Appropriate age-verification evidence must be available on reasonable request; do not routinely submit ID copies. Publication depends on verification of the required rights.

4. THIRD-PARTY RIGHTS
Where photographers, artists, agencies or other parties share rights in the Content, the Photographer confirms that their necessary written authorizations have been obtained. Copies must be supplied upon reasonable request. The Photographer may not grant rights they do not hold.

5. EDITORIAL PRESENTATION & FINAL FILES
The Magazine may crop, resize, colour-correct and format Content as reasonably necessary, without materially misrepresenting it. It may create editorial headlines, captions, titles, categories, tags and metadata. If selected, the Photographer supplies suitable high-resolution print and digital image files without additional fee; specifications are provided after selection.

6. FUTURE PUBLICATION & PROMOTION
Reasonable selections may be reused for future issues, reprints, magazine compilations, archival features, previews and related promotion. Use as principal content in a separately marketed standalone artist monograph, art book or unrelated commercial product requires an additional written agreement and any necessary model permissions.

7. COPYRIGHT & CREDITS
Copyright remains with the Photographer or applicable rightsholder; ownership is not transferred. The Photographer supplies their preferred publication credit and portfolio link. The Magazine will credit contributors in its customary editorial format where reasonably practicable and subject to applicable attribution rights. A Model's legal name is collected confidentially for rights administration; an approved stage name may be used for public credits.

8. COMPLIMENTARY COPIES & COMPENSATION
Submission and publication are voluntary and do not entitle the Photographer to a fee, royalty or complimentary printed or digital copy. Copies may be purchased through the Magazine's distribution channels. Any separately agreed payment or special terms must be recorded in writing.

9. INDEMNIFICATION
To the extent permitted by law, the Photographer indemnifies the Magazine and publisher against reasonable third-party claims, losses and costs arising from a breach of the Photographer's warranties or permissions. The Magazine will give reasonable notice and an opportunity to cooperate in defence. Non-excludable liability remains unaffected.

10. WITHDRAWAL & LEGAL RIGHTS
A later withdrawal request does not automatically terminate granted publication rights or require recall of lawfully distributed editions. Legally substantiated objections will be reviewed. Mandatory copyright, privacy, personality and data-protection rights remain unaffected.

11. ACKNOWLEDGEMENT
By signing, the Photographer confirms the information is accurate, necessary rights and permissions have been obtained, and these terms are accepted. Selection and publication remain at the Magazine's editorial discretion.
